

WAYNESBURG.

—Misses Nellie Morris and Stella Conner, of Eubanks, were the guests of Miss Bertha Reynolds Saturday and Sunday.

—Again has our little village been visited by that grim monster, death. This time it took away the youngest and tenderest flower of the home. May, the little daughter of D. W. Caldwell, aged 15 months, departed this life to the sweet rest beyond Monday night, April 27.

—As was announced, the Baptist Semi-Annual Sunday-School Convention met at the Baptist church here Saturday and Sunday. The attendance was not as large as was expected on account of the busy season. The discussions of the different subjects were pointed and instructive. No one could listen to them without being greatly benefited. One of the leading features of the convention was a basket dinner on Saturday. The good mothers filled the baskets full of all the nice things and in sufficient quantities to refresh all present. The ministers present were Revs. A. J. Pike, J. N. Bowling, A. Mobley and W. T. Reynolds, who made excellent speeches during the meeting. The convention closed at 12:30 Sunday and all went home feeling that they had gained much valuable information. Quite a number of people from Eubanks attended. Mr. F. P. Curtis and family of Somerset, were also present.
